PROFILE

A Registered Nurse with wide ranging experience, I have been a Unit Nurse on and off since 1995, full-time for the last 11 years. Whilst still working full time in A&E at Ashford (Middx) and then The John Radcliffe (Oxford) Hospital, I was employed by agencies supplying nurses to Film and Television. I worked between a day and four weeks on, amongst other productions, Tomorrow Never Dies, The Borrowers, Alien Love Triangle, Soldier Soldier and Bramwell.

I am aware the single biggest reason any Production Company utilises my skills is obviously the risks associated with locations. The geography alone often causes delays in the arrival of skilled emergency intervention. Accidents don't happen when we are ready for them! To the casualty my presence ensures immediate safe management in the interim. However of equal importance, as a trained nurse, I hold firm to the belief that "prevention is better then cure". I strive, on a day to day basis in conjunction with your chosen Health and Safety Consultant's guidelines, to identify areas within the workplace that are potentially detrimental to the health and well being of the crew. I aim to combat the effects our work schedules can often have by boosting morale, vitamin/healthcare advice and the odd legal homeopathic adjunct! If this fails, I endeavour to reduce the effects of irritating uncomfortable minor ailments to the best of my professional ability and ensure specialist medical referral if indicated.
