It's possible that you might not recognise the ADs I've worked with, as they're mostly based in France, but they taught me the value of precision, professionalism, and an unwavering respect for the sanctity of lunch breaks. I thrive in challenging environments that fuel my curiosity. Sociable and hardworking, I'm happiest when tackling new obstacles.

When I am not working, I'm passionate about learning and teaching languages. I've taught myself Italian and volunteer with EPTLM at the British Council, helping refugees learn English. Additionally, I am an incredibly passionate traveller, having visited 40+ countries. Above all, I'm driven by my curiosity to grow into the best AD I can be, and a commitment to always going the extra mile to ensure every shoot runs smoothly, no matter the challenge.
